Anne Gregson

God bless the day, the day that you were born, God bless the 4

night that e - ver gave you life, that put you here up -

8 on the earth and gave you eyes to see, God bless the 12

day the day that you were born the day that you were born.

God bless the day, the day that you were born
God bless the night that ever gave you life
That put you here upon the earth and gave you eyes to see
God bless the day, the day that you were born
The day that you were born.

What was this world before I saw your face
It must have been a dark and empty place
Yet with the joys of knowing you come sorrows to embrace
The day that you were born.

I wish that I could keep you from all harm
Ensuring dangers never come your way
Or that you were immortal and of this world to stay
God bless the day, the day that you were born
The day that you were born.

For those who truly love are never free
And I must always live a life of fear
That there might ever come a time when you will not be here
The day that you were born.
